

Hailey Riddle Studios Situation

!!!Trigger Warning: Most screenshots have minors in them. There will be mentions of P#D0s/R@pi3t,Kinks.!!!

There will be a warning when it is mentioned. Only brief.

Please note I'm not good at inserting photos in docs so if they come out weird please let me know I'll try and fix them. and the style changes up with the screenshots and talking right after this first part so very sorry. Also sorry for the lack of screenshots included. I have a bunch but it's tiring sending them from phone to computer. If there is any screen shot you'd like to see please dm me and i'll send it.

Do not bully anyone in this doc. Most people are innocent in all of these situations except for one of them. If you wish to have your named blurred please let me know and I'll do it. This is also unedited so there will be mistakes.

Hailey Riddle is an autistic artist and animator. She mainly focuses on Five Nights at Freddy's content. Hailey has been confronted many times before but fail to acknowledge and understand. She brush everything under the rug and says out.

Harassing YouTuber EthGoesBOOM

If you don't know who EthGoesBOOM is a popular voice actor. He's known to voice FnaF characters. There will be screenshots showing how Hailey is constantly pinging him and begging him to come back for the Fazbear let's play Even Though Eth clearly said he was beginning work on his own YouTube channel. There are a lot more screenshots but it's basically everything I posted here in repeat. I have more screenshots to provide if need be but these were the main ones I have due to not being in that server anymore.

Its good.

She was then confronted by mod about it, but this isn't the only time she does this. Hailey posted this screenshot of Candy and Clndy. This was another point were she was again confronted to leave Eth alone. This again isn't the first time she has done this. She was begging Eth to come back recently before this screenshot and the mods warned her she would be timed out.

Not only was she rude to the mod, she also brought up the fact that she's autistic. Everyone already knew that, and they all respected that.

Once she got timed out she had went to her server to vent about it.

Her running to her server.

Hailey Sending her Server After Someone

An explanation of this is at the end, a couple people were mentioned in here that were innocent. Mikey and TereasaBee. They're animators that are really talented. Show them some love. It is really inappropriate to send your audience to go and do any kind of harm to anyone over critzim and not knowing the whole story behind it. It makes you look bad as well. These screenshots are kinda all over the place cause other people were venting their problems and I didn't want to expose them like that.

Message #vent-❤️

The context behind all of these screenshots is Hailey posted a video, Mikey an artist had commented on an improvement tip. The comment was deleted by Hailey soon after she went to her server venting about it. The people in her server was upset at the fact of that. Some suggested that they just block and go on with their day, while others said to mass report them and get them banned which Hailey agreed to. A couple went on to comment on the page of Mikey, a couple were trying to get their accounts mass reported and banned.

TereasaBee is a friend of Mikey's and tried to define their friend but the people in the server turned their attention to them and attacked them. Even on TereasaBee's channel they began commenting on their videos being harmful.

And even though Tereasa is a minor and all there is no one to talk to someone like that at all. Especially everyone here because none of them could make proper sentences to even sound right. There's addition screenshots but it was just unnecessary stuff. You can find it on her old discord server that is still up.

“Art Improvement” and Commissions

I don't have a cool introduction for this so I'm going to jump right on in. In many servers Hailey has been asking for art tips and advice to help improve her art plus to start getting commissions because she wanted to start making a living making art. Many others, and I myself have given her tips on how to improve so many times hoping to help her with what she needed. It has not turned out that way. As of these last few months Hailey has done nothing but complain about how no one wants to reach out to her and commission her. Even went so far as to call her clients “dumb” and gaslighting everyone saying someone called her art “worthless” when it was just herself that did that. Everyone is getting really annoyed with it because she has started to go to different servers asking has her art improved and getting upset when no one says anything positive about it. Even with her patron and KOFI she gets upset because no one has bought anything, but her fan base is nothing but children. Kids are more than likely not going to subscribe to those times of things due to lack of money.

it is better to know the truth rather than meaningful nice comments, but i would say your art is improving about 4... but no artist is improving in speed of light, that will come in time. try practicing anatomy- try to not keep with your usual artstyle but draw the most realistic looking one you possibly can. then you can try combining it (if you're going for more realistic artstyle, instead of cartoony. nothing wrong with cartoony artstyle, just saying) imo

Hailey they're just giving constructive criticism so you know what to work on. Yes the thought of it is there and there's nothing wrong putting thoughts into well a gift for someone yet when they tell you to improve something it isn't bad rather it's something good cuz you'll know what to work on so that your art can improve and become better from what it stands today till who knows 10 years later or something. Criticism isn't for anyone and all but you won't go into a art contest and not expect judges to give valuable criticism to help improve mistakes/ basic mistakes that most artists go through. Taking it is best and then experimenting with it to come out with something much more different to the point that it can be decent enough. People who are passionate about it would take the criticism rather than a sad lie. That comes from someone with experience, I'm sure many have gone through that as well.

Here an advise if some people don't like it probably their problems but if majority of people don't like it is your problems
So you better do what you must and stop whining about how have you improve because people spend their money to get what they want not to hear you whining about you improved because that simply how life work if you can't take a small bit of a criticism then you're probably to fragile for life

Hailey had started calling her art worthless and started twisting it saying everyone had called it that when no one clearly did. And she had also called her clients “dumb” She then went on and made vent art saying her art was worthless. Then someone called her out on it and it started a whole drama on her server.

Still Hailey, you shouldn't be going around bothering people because of something you need to improve on. This isn't the first time you've harassed someone to the point where they called you out and you went somewhere and vented. You keep saying it's okay but you clearly don't understand or realize the situation. What you're doing is leaving a negative impact on others and everyone that sees. To get commissions isn't just about art it's also how you treat others.

These screenshots are just a little of what had happened when she was confronted. The whole thing is still up on her server and you can still view everything. As far as I can tell nothing was deleted or edited. One thing to remember is Hailey is 20 and nearly 21. She isn't a child, she's a full on adult. And for an adult to not speak up and hide behind literally children is very shameful. A child shouldn't be speaking up for you. Especially when YOU'RE the person being called out on these types of things. You shouldn't be hiding.

Only For the Money

Hailey Riddle 08/27/2023 12:13 PM

I do care about others, I just didn't know

✨ Ramae ✨ 08/27/2023 2:37 PM

You need to look that stuff up and educate yourself. Grooming and pedophilia are things everyone should know and take seriously. It's not something you brush under the rug or forgive and forget or just say 'okay' to. People take those types of things seriously it's nothing to joke about because it's abuse. Supporting/defending those types of people makes you look bad. Your fan base will consist of minors you need to understand that. Minors are easily manipulated into those types of things, and you need to protect them from that type of exposure. (edited)

And if you don't understand important things like that and need to step back from the art and look those things up or ask questions instead of being in the dark like you are. You should already know

Hailey says she doesn't understand what grooming and what a pedophile is which can't be true, because multiple times she has announced in her servers that watch out for people that were considered pedos. Maybe she didn't know but she should have if she forgive one of the people that was one.

Summary

Hailey Riddle Studios have been harassing multiple people due to commissions, art, and her own selfishness.

I am very sorry If this doc seems all over the place. I was trying my best to gather all the evidence the best I could. Thanks to those that help provide screenshots and everything, and please give love to some of the people that were involved in this.
